

If you got a refuse

Ask you, respected authors, to avoid requirements on a standard: «Give to me a telephone (E-mail, Skype), reviewer, that I explained him everything!».

Be persistent at the attempt to publish the article. If answer scientifically reasonably and correctly on the remark of editors and reviewers in time, it is possible to attain a result in publication of Your article without any complication and tension.

Do not elect another scientific collection or journal, while it will not be find out one of such moments:

- an editor answered that the subjects of Your article did not fully correspond to a branch type and subject of Collection;
- an editorial college rejects publishing of manuscript without a right for its resubmitting in a release;
- your article was rejected even after you thoroughly answered on all suggestions and analytical comments of a reviewer;
- You obtained the information from a release about a refuse to publish Your article on the basis of reviews of two reviewers;
- the process of the article consideration exceeds time, foreseen by regulation of Collection and editors on objective reasons can not quicken the analysis of Your manuscript. In such case, please, report a release that you take away the article, before to give it to another collection or journal.

Remember!

Preparation of the article to publication is sufficiently a difficult multivectorial process, that is why you must be ready to work quietly and perceive with thanks all the remarks given to you, insistingly work on improvement of the article and to bring necessary corrections into Your manuscript, tolerantly answer on the comments of editors and reviewers. Execute nothing superfluous, answer only on those remarks and letters which are sent to you.

- You can appeal against any editorial decision if it does not meet your scientific expectations and aspirations.
